Pastoral Reflections...from Fr. Charles

We have talked about (written about) the Jubilee Year, the pilgrimage, and how to make a pilgrimage. Let's think about the effects of a pilgrimage. One of the main attractions of pilgrimage is the opportunity to connect with the divine. Pilgrims often travel to places where they believe God is present in a special way. This can include holy sites such as churches, temples, and shrines. By visiting these places, pilgrims hope to experience a deeper sense of connection to the divine. That is the first effect. Another effect is the creation of a sense of community. Pilgrimages often involve groups of people traveling together, and this shared experience can create a strong sense of community and belonging. Pilgrims also often share a common goal or purpose, such as seeking forgiveness, healing, or spiritual growth. This sense of shared purpose can be a powerful motivator for many people and can help to deepen their faith and commitment to their religion. Pilgrimage also has many physical and psychological benefits. Traveling to new places can be exciting and can help to break up the monotony of daily life. It can also be a chance to escape the stresses and pressures of everyday life, and to gain a new perspective on one's own problems and concerns. The physical exertion of walking or hiking on a pilgrimage can also be beneficial for the body, and can help to improve overall health and well-being. If a pilgrimage takes a person to a different country, it can also help to promote understanding and tolerance between different cultures and religions. Overall, pilgrimage is an ancient and powerful tradition that continues to attract people from all walks of life. Whether it is for religious or spiritual reasons, or simply for the sense of adventure and excitement. Pope Francis has designated the theme of "Hope" to be the underlying purpose of this Jubilee Year. Our world needs "hope," and the desire of Pope Francis is that all of us will have opportunities to become more hope-filled Catholics. But we do not want to forget that the fundamental reasons for the original jubilee years in Sacred Scripture are based in forgiveness and reconciliation. Let's make this jubilee year of 2025 a year of hope and reconciliation.
